

National Society Gives Funds For Cancer Research Program

• GEORGE WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY joined the ranks of thousands in the fight against cancer last week when it received $32,500 to finance a cancer research program here.

Twenty thousand dollars was given by the District Division of the American Cancer Society and a check for $12,500 was presented to Dr. Cloyd H. Marvin, president of the University, by the national office of the American Cancer Society.

Program plans have yet to be outlined, but since this disease is of outstanding importance today in medical science and research, the University will be enabled through use of this money to contribute greatly to findings already established in the field.

Shown at the presentation ceremonies held in the Office of the President of the University are Dr. Elliot Wadsworth, vice-president of the District of Columbia Division of the American Cancer Society; Dr. Marvin; Mr. W. S. Pratt of the Warwick Memorial Clinic which is affiliated with the George Washington University for cancer work, and Mr. Douglass Poterat, executive vice president of the American Cancer Society, who came from New York for the ceremony.

Capacity Audience Rolls In Aisles As Faculty Lets Down Its Hair

• DRAWING A CAPACITY crowd and many laughs, the faculty let loose its inhibitions and presented the Faculty Follies at Lisner Auditorium on Friday, December 17.

Centering about Dean Elmer Louis Kayser as George Washington and Bruce D. Greenshields and James J. Kerley, Jr., both of the engineering staff, as Jenny, his horse, the theme of this year's follies was a survey of the history of the University past, present, and future. Martha Washington, originally to be played by Miss Virginia Kirkbride, director of activities for women, was portrayed by Miss Ruth Atwell, director of physical education for women, due to Miss Kirkbride's illness.

Planning of University

Past history of the University was presented first in a scene depicting the planning of the University at Mount Vernon with a faculty chorus engaged in folk dancing in the background. The dancing in other scenes as well as this was under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Burtner of the department of physical education for women, and was predominantly a Virginia reel with slight traces of jitterbugging interspersed among the bows and curtsies.

Further revelations of the past of the University were brought to the attention of the audience in scenes of the first commencement; the founding of the Medical School, complete with pasty-faced students, eerie lighting effects, and Digger O'Dell; and a Civil War scene containing several original song parodies rendered by a quartet composed of Roderic Davison, assistant professor of European history, Lawrence D. Folkemer, executive officer of the department of religion, L. Clark Keating, executive officer of the romance language department, and Leroy S. Merrifield, acting dean of the Law School.

Adding a final touch to the University's past was a modern dance sequence laid in a Shakespearean classroom and featuring as dancers the first women students of the University. The star performance of this scene was that of L. Poe Leggett, executive officer of the speech department, who portrayed the elderly professor lured into the dance by his pupils. Professor Leggett, whose ability in foot-twisting excelled even that of his tongue-twisting, was last viewed by the audience panting upstage right as the curtain fell.

Nineteen hundred and forty-eight, as seen by the faculty, was conveyed to the audience through the medium of representative professors from various departments. Each professor was allowed to give a portion of one of his typical lectures before being moved on by the janitors, Dr. John Latimer.

They're Human

Bringing the show to a close was the faculty's interpretation of the University in 2024. The action dealt with a take-off of the "determined-if-nothing-else" University football team and a jet-propelled student council presidential election. With the erection of a statue of George Washington and Jenny on the spacious campus, the curtain fell, leaving the audience considerably bewildered over the fact that the faculty is really human.

At intermission, Virginia Myers, president of the Women's Recreation Association, presented a cup to Chi Omega sorority for selling the most tickets to the Follies. Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority placed second.

U. S. Air Force Band To Broadcast On National Hookup From Lisner

• FIRST BROADCAST OF "Adventures in Music," an eight-week series of concerts by the United States Air Force 75-piece orchestra and glee club, will be presented January 6 from 8:30 to 9:30 in Lisner Auditorium.

Broadcast over a nation-wide frequency modulation hookup with a potential audience of two million, the concerts will be given on Thursday nights through January and February and will make the University "the only school in the world to have a live music appreciation class," said Major George S. Howard, director of the orchestra.

John Ball of radio station WOL, author of the daily record column in the New York World Telegram, will be master of ceremonies for the series, and Robert L. Landers of the U. S. Air Force will conduct the glee club.

Sponsored by the Colonial Program Series, the concerts will be free to students and alumni. Audiences are requested to arrive at Lisner before 8:15, as doors will be closed during the broadcast.

President Cloyd H. Marvin will give a brief address on the opening program, which will feature "Know Your Orchestra," a scenario explaining various orchestral instruments, edited and compiled by M/Sgt. William Cray of the Air Force.

Numbers on the first program include the overture to "Russian and Ludmilla," by Glinka; "Procession of the Sardar," by Ippolitoff-Ivanov; Strauss' "Emperor Waltz;" Massenet's "Vision Fugitive," with baritone solo by Abrasha Robovsky, and various selections by the glee club.

"Alice in Wonderland," narrated by a University girl not yet chosen, will highlight the second concert on January 13, and the third concert, January 20, will feature all American music in honor of Inauguration Day, with Richard Bales, director of the National Gallery of Art concerts, as guest conductor.

Medical Group Elects Dr. Parr

• DR. LELAND W. PARR, professor of bacteriology at the University School of Medicine, has been named chairman of the Conference of Professors of Preventive Medicine for the year 1949.

Dr. Parr is executive officer of the Department of Bacteriology, Hygiene and Preventive Medicine of the University School of Medicine. He was decorated for distinguished civilian service as consultant in the Office of the Army Surgeon General during World War II. He now serves as senior consultant to the Veterans Administration in bacteriology, a director of the Tuberculosis Association of the District of Columbia, and an officer of the Society of American Bacteriologists.

Players Holding Auditions For Show

• TRYOUTS FOR the University Players' third major production, "The Inspector General," by Nikolai Gogol, will be held on January 10 and 12, 1949, at 8:15 p. m. in Studio A, Lisner Auditorium. Rehearsals start in February.

There is a large number of male and female roles available in this Russian comedy. The entire student body is invited to try out.

Appointments may be made with Andrew A. Nilles, director of this production.

"The Inspector General" will be presented in the Lisner Auditorium on March 11 and 12.

Hellenic Society To Send Clothing To Greek College

• NEEDY STUDENTS of a teacher's college in Greece are to be the recipients of a clothing drive being organized on campus by the Hellenic Society. The drive will get underway immediately after the Christmas holidays and will last until January 19. During that time clothing contributions may be placed in receptacles that will be located in the Student Club, the Student Union Annex and the Veterans Club.

The college to be helped is a co-ed school for training elementary school teachers. Its student body of 100 has made an appeal for help through the Hellenic Society.

The Hellenic Society, which is composed of students of Greek extraction and other students interested in the Greek language and culture, will collect and ship all the proceeds to the needy students. Backing by the Student Council was announced Thursday at the weekly meeting and volunteers from other school organizations who wish to help by soliciting contributions or otherwise will be appreciated.

Additional information may be obtained at the contact office located at the Student Union Annex (2127 G Street) or by calling ORdway 5969.

Cheerleaders Set For '49 Season

• CHEERLEADERS for the coming year will include the following new members chosen at the recent tryouts: Jody Hastings, Micky McGriff, Betty Russell, Penny Selen, Jeanne Young, Bob Cochran, Bob Hildebrand, and George Rawnsley.

Judging the tryouts were Max Farrington, director of men's activities; Miss Virginia Kirkbride, director of women's activities; Bill Warner, president of the Student Council; Joe Kpach, social chairman of the Student Council; Betty Ann Paisley, president of Mortar Board; Jack Voneiff, president of O. D. K.; Pete Marshall, president of the freshman class; Dave Shapiro and Maynard Halthcock, co-captains of the basketball team; Art Cerra, honorary member of the basketball team; Betty Talley, from the cheering squad; and Tom Pence, head cheerleader.

Old members of the cheering squad who are still carrying on are Tom Pence, Peggy Caldwell, Myrl Lanckton, Betty Talley, Ginny Teeter, Louise Whiting, and Walt Wills. The new members of the squad will work with the old ones on a split-squad basis at all basketball games, because it is felt that all fifteen cheerleaders are not needed at each game. Twelve were present at the V. P. I.-George Washington University game last week.

Exam Schedules In Next Hatchet

• FOR THE CONVENIENCE of the student body, the HATCHET publishes this extra pre-holiday issue containing the final examination schedule. It will be distributed to the students both before and after the holidays, in order that all students can obtain copies. This schedule will be reprinted after final corrections have been made. The next issue of the HATCHET will be published on January 11.

Miss Atwell Is Honored At Banquet

• MISS RUTH ATWELL, Director of Physical Education for Women, was honored at a surprise banquet Friday night, December 10. In celebration of her twentieth year here at the University, the banquet was arranged by forty alumnae who majored in physical education under Miss Atwell.

Among those present were President Marvin and Mrs. Joshua Evans, Jr., member of the Board of Trustees, who presented Miss Atwell with resolutions from the Board of Trustees on her twenty years of service.

From the banquet theme of "Dear Ruth" came the idea of letters from out-of-town graduates who were unable to attend. Among the letters from past students who majored under Miss Atwell were two from Alaska and France. She also received a book of pictures of many alumnae's children.

Miss Atwell was presented with a piece of luggage and a traveling clock.

Head of the committee making arrangements for the dinner at the Westchester Apartments was Mrs. Camille Craig. Miss Gretchen Feiker, daughter of Dean Frederick M. Feiker, head of the School of Engineering, assisted in making the party a surprise to Miss Atwell.

As general secretary of the Y. W. C. A. for Washington, Miss Feiker planned a mythical dinner and asked Miss Atwell to speak. Her dinner engagement turned into the "Dear Ruth" surprise party in her honor.

Tutoring Service To Be Initiated

• ALPHA LAMBDA DELTA, national freshman women's scholastic honorary discussed plans for its tutoring service and initiated two new members at a meeting on Monday, December 13, at 5:30 p. m. in Columbian House.

As its project for the year the honorary is organizing a tutoring service for freshmen. A committee of Alpha Lambda Delta members is revising a file in Miss Kirkbride's office of students qualified to tutor. However, any other University students desiring to coach, and also all freshmen in need of help in any subject are invited to use this service, by contacting Elaine Langerman, president of Alpha Lambda Delta, at 5122 9 St. N. W. A standard fee will be charged for assistance rendered by the tutors.

The new initiates of the organization are Betty Rosendorf and Marie Panor, both of whom were pledged last May. They were presented for initiation during the ceremony by Miss Phyllis Nichols, Assistant Professor of English and advisor of the honorary.

Membership in Alpha Lambda Delta is limited to freshman women who have attained a 3.50 average for their first semester's work with at least 14 credit hours. A girl may also qualify for membership if she maintains at 3.50 average in her first year's work with a minimum of 28 credit hours.

The Man Who Coached Garber

• ARTHUR "OTTS" ZAHN, the University's basketball coach, who is temporarily unable to be with the Colonials due to illness, has a record which, we think, is worth mentioning here. The guy's G. W. through and through.

Coming up from Eastern High school here in the District of Columbia to play with Colonial basketball squads from 1930 through 1933, Zahn distinguished himself as an excellent shot and capable defense man. He captained the 1932-33 team, and played infield spots for the Colonial baseball team. Upon graduation he became a standout with the Washington Brewers in the American Basketball League.

In 1935 he returned to the University as frosh coach and assistant varsity mentor. Assistant Coach George "Jug" Garber was a member of a Zahn freshman squad. Zahn became head basketball coach in 1942, and during that first year as head man, coached his team to the Southern Conference crown, upsetting highly favored Duke, 56-40, in the tourney finals. The most amazing part of this triumph was the fact that he was only a part-time coach and could devote only a few hours in the evenings to his coaching job.

In the summer of 1947, Otts became full-time baseball and basketball coach. The immediate result was an excellent court season ending with a record of 19 wins and 6 losses, and an amazing baseball year that saw our diamond squad receive a bid to the NCAA District Three Tournament in Charlotte, N. C., where they were nosed out in the finals by a powerful North Carolina Squad.

In five years as head coach, Zahn's teams have won 64 of the 91 games on their schedule, an average slightly better than 70 per cent. Never having had a losing team, Zahn can certainly lay claim to one of the finest coaching records in this area.

Coach Zahn chose Jug Garber to take over while he is away. With the work that Otts has put into the Colonial squad through the nine Zahnmens who remain from last season, and with "Jug" Garber coaching the team in his absence, Otts Zahn should see another winning season chalked up for the G. W. he loves so well.

Letters To The Editors

Faithful Fourteen

Dear Hatchet:

The Sophomore Class finally had that widely publicized meeting in Government 101 Dec. 8. Fourteen people were there. The agenda of the meeting centered around the recent editorial in the election of the University Hatchet suggesting a benefit dance for the Cherry Tree. There were negative responses to the idea of inviting J. Dorsey, C. Barnett, etc., to play for the dance.

The fourteen faithful sophomores in attendance, however, have planned a Cherry Tree Ball for Friday, January 14, in the Student Club. Those fourteen regulars hope to give something to the Cherry Tree when expenses are paid.

There will be prizes, entertainment, variety of refreshments, secondhand decorations. We have incurred some forty dollars which is about all of our total expenses. Now can we depend upon the entire student body to help us with our noble effort?

Philanthropically yours,
Johnny Graves,
President, Sophomore Class.

How about some billboards showing students exactly what the new Cherry Tree will look like, what it will include? Let the dance be an opportunity for students to get a glimpse of this new kind of yearbook which, we hope, is the answer to our financial problem as well as an improvement over the traditional college annual.

Svelte Santa?

Dear Hatchet:

I liked your cartoon of last week, showing a form-fitting dress hung at the fireplace for Santa to fill. Now, what I want to know is, where do you get one of those things?

Expectantly yours,

Ray Steeg.

You're in for a disappointment if you think Santa can fill one of those, laddie. It just isn't his size.

Could Be Worse

Dear Hatchet:

It certainly was surprising that the Times-Herald should print such modest pictures of the Shipwreck Ball. I'm proud of their good taste.

Sincerely,

Steve Hanson.

You! We could kiss them!

Turn On The Heat

• HEPPED UP AND HOARSE from yelling at intramural football games, those ever lovin' frat boys came screaming at us Sunday afternoon. "Write an editorial," they demanded. Standing there in their earmuffs and icicles, they insisted that it was colder inside the tin tabernacle than out.

Forsaking Hatchet duties to study International Politics, we took refuge from telephones in Lisner Library. Some half-dozen brave individuals huddled close to radiators, expecting them to radiate. We parked squarely atop a radiator, opened the textbook, got to the bottom of a page only to realize that we'd been daydreaming between the lines. Maybe those boys were right—something ought to be done.

Nope—can't do it. Sittin' here in muffler and mackinaw, trying to type with gloves on our hands, we can't seem to get an inspiration—too cold here in the Hatchet office.

On Other Campuses

By HAL HART

• THE 70-ODD POSTS which mark the bus stops down at the University of Miami are rapidly disappearing. Students, while waiting for busses, have amused themselves by working the posts loose and then keeping them as "souvenirs."

Statistics in the Miami Hurricane show that the posts must be replaced at the rate of four a week, and that over a period of a year, replacements amount to 150 per cent of the total number of posts.

The University's Director of Transportation requests that students try to "curb the habit."

After an explosion at the Cleveland Power Company which plunged the city into darkness, four thousand people at the University of Detroit-John Carroll basketball game waited restlessly for the lights to come back on.

Finally, after two long hours, the officials cancelled the game. As the last, lingering person was leaving the gymnasium, lighting was restored.

Rugby teams on the West Coast are disappointed that this year they won't be able to face the rugged Australian Wallabies, who came over last year and soundly thrashed the Americans.

According to the Daily Californian, there are over a hundred men at the University of California who have signed up for the sport, and it seems that rugby has recently become quite popular out West.

A reporter for the Oregon Daily Emerald came out last week for the recognition of pinball artists in intramural competition.

"Consider the possibilities," he said, "of house teams vying for honors in this new sport as they now do in touch football and basketball."

Anticipating the argument that the infernal machines can't be beaten, he states: "Who says they can't be beaten? Beating the pinballs consists of winning free games, and this easily provides the impetus for the American tradition of trying to get something for nothing."

We've received further news about the "Ugliest Man on Campus" contest held out at the University of Texas. Voting was hectic as election judges ruled that no holds were barred. Campaigning was allowed within one centimeter of the polls, ballot box stuffing was encouraged, and bribery was an accepted method of getting votes.

The winning "Ugliest Man," described as a cross between Bela Lugosi and Lena the Hyena, took in many valuable prizes and honors, and, at five cents a vote, the campus charity which sponsored the contest netted $1,500.

Backin' Boosters All The Way

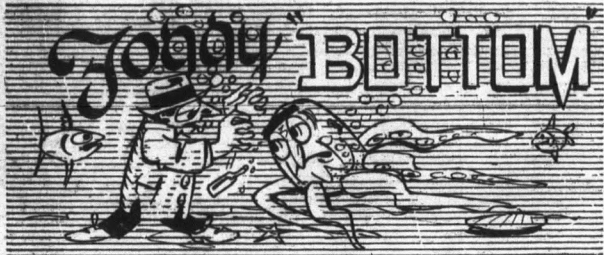

• HARDLY ANXIOUS to have new organizations spring up on a crowded campus with a far too-crowded campus calendar, we cannot help but be happy with the results of the first season of Colonial Boosters. If any organization ever proved its worth to the University, Boosters is that outfit. Brain-child of a few, it grew to include members enough to claim the title of being the second largest organization of its kind in any college anywhere. Boosters produced a reserved seat section for its members at all home football games. A start was made for better cheering. Greater cooperation among cheer leaders' next year will help.

Colonial Boosters produced "George," who has become a University mascot, almost a stab at the traditional kind of thing that makes a college out of an otherwise glorified business school.

Limited membership in Colonial Boosters next year will be necessary in order that all boosters may have choice seats. Only so many people can sit on the fifty-yard line. Greater plans for participation and for half-time entertainment are in the offing for next football season.

Boosters is not, however, a commercial plan to get better seats for its subscribers. It is a working, cooperative organization. Boosters expects its members to be interested enough to spend some time each week in an effort to make it a real help to the team.

There is little doubt that Colonial Boosters is the kind of student organization that this University has needed for a long time. If Boosters get the cooperation next year that has come from interested students during the past football season, we can't help but have a better team, with the wholehearted kind of support a well organized boosters section can offer. At any rate, we'll have more fun.

The faculty, bless them, really put on a fine show last Friday night. Mr. Leggett of the Speech Dept. was the real star with his satire on an English prof.—Congrats to Chi Omega on winning the cup for selling the most tickets to the Follies.

Glee Clubs Give Yule Song Fest

ONE HUNDRED members of the University Glee Clubs presented their annual Christmas Concert Saturday night at Lisner Auditorium. Under the direction of Dr. Robert H. Harmon, they presented a varied program to a near capacity crowd.

As the curtain rose, the Clubs were singing "Silent Night" with Jane Parker soloing on the second verse. "Cantique de Noel" was presented next, and Betty Birkicht and Ernie Sult sang the verses while the Club did the choruses.

Soloists Highlight Concert

The main number of the program, "The Christ Child Cantata," occupied the remainder of the first half of the program. Soloists were Ernie Sult, Dick Randall, John Britt, Shirley Gimbel, Wah Ni Tahe Webb, Doty Baines, Betty Birkicht, Wendy Lewis, Betty King, Brook Stiefel, Jean Frank, Jody Hastings, and Jane Parker.

During intermission, Jack Voneiff, president of Pi Delta Epsilon, National Honorary Journalism Society, tapped eight new members for the organization.

Opening the second part of the program, Dr. Harmon led the audience in the singing of carols. Following this, the Glee Clubs presented Fred Waring's arrangement of "Twas the Night Before Christmas." The baritone solo was sung by Dick Randall, and speaking parts were done by Carol Beaver and Betty Birkicht.

Audience Participates

The next selection of Christmas songs included "White Christmas," "Wassail Song," and "O! Little Town of Bethlehem," with a solo by Betsy Ross.

The final selection was "The Hallelujah Chorus" from Handel's Messiah.

Stage settings were by John Voneiff and piano accompaniment was done by Mrs. Harmon. After the performance, a reception for seniors was held in the lower lobby. A women's sextette and a men's quartet provided entertainment.

Buff Five Running Hot And Cold As Manhattan Garden Game Nears

Thriller Finds Frosh Victors

• CONTINUING the George Washington frosh cage squad matched a high scoring Third Infantry five basket for basket and went on to top the Soldiers, 68-66, last Thursday night.

The young Colonials' big three—Wally Warner, Dave Close, and Abe Leviton—proved themselves the big guns again as the frosh rang up their third straight victory against no defeats. It was Warner who provided the clincher in this battle. With 45 seconds left to play and the score knotted at 66-66, the lanky Colonial center swung off his pivot spot to sink the winning tally.

Warner was around during the other moments of the evening as his scoring total of 29 points clearly shows. The see-saw tilt saw Close and Leviton join Warner's bucketing prowess by sinking 11 and 14 points respectively. The Buff frosh led at half time 39-37, but the contest was in doubt until Warner's final two-pointer.

Johnny Posten's crew can take a well deserved rest before resuming its full schedule against Bulls on January 10 at George Washington in a 4:15 scrap.

• COACH JUG GARBBER will hope to have all the faucets turned on hot when he sends his cagers against the Jaspers of Manhattan University on January 4 at Madison Square Garden.

Following a holiday layoff which started after the Virginia game last night, the Colonial five tackles the strong Manhattan squad in a double bill that will feature a CCNY-St. John's fray as the other battle. Always a contender among the New York City hoop squads, the Jaspers ended up with a 23-6 record last year. In one of their Garden appearances this season, Manhattan lost to Bradley 81-72.

BULLETIN

• CHARLOTTESVILLE, VA.—The Cavaliers outtought the Buffmen at the backboards last night to win, 67-53. Lenny Small was high scorer for the Colonials with 15 points and Bill Cantwell was right behind with 12.

George Washington's hoopsters split the two games played on their trip last week. Deep in rebel territory, the Colonials lost to Washington and Lee Thursday night, 59-53, but rebounded to crush Virginia Military Institute the next evening to the tune of 71-45.

The Little Generals held onto their early lead to defeat the Colonials. Bob Goldsmith bucketed 23 points for his night's effort, while Bus Halthcock was the only Buff cager able to break the W&L defense to any extent, coming through with 13 points.

Recoiling from this loss, the Colonials treated the Keydets to a George Washington brand of ball. (See VARSITY, Page 7)

League B Shaping Up In Tight 'Mural Cage Race

• ONLY ONE OF THE Intramural Basketball Leagues is not in doubt as to its outcome. Farkas "A" has it just about sewed up in League B. The Eastern Bombers have a mathematical chance of tying Farkas for the League lead but for Farkas to lose its next two outings is highly improbable.

The league leaders showed that they meant business when they slapped down their strongest contenders, Seagrams 5, by a 45-17 score last week. Even though Seagrams was playing without one of its stars, little "Hooks" Simon, the outcome of the game was never in doubt. Harvey Shipman's 13 points were high for the contest. In another League B game the Eastern Bombers took over undisputed possession of second place by Whipping Bradley Hall, 22-16.

League 'A' Close

The other five leagues are all embroiled, as yet, mostly with respect to the first and second place teams. The closest contest is ensuing in League A where the Cats and Dodgers both rolled over their last place opponents to remain in a tie for the league lead. Both should win their next games handily from teams they had whipped earlier in the season, the Alphans and Vets Club. Barring no upsets, a playoff between the Cats and Dodgers will probably take place sometime in the early part of January.

With the Epies and Draper Hall mathematically out of the race in League C, there remain only the Ramblers and Farkas "B." Having whipped Farkas once this season by a wide margin the undefeated Ramblers will be favorites to repeat their victory over once-defeated Farkas and thus capture the League C championship. The Ramblers were never headed in their recent game with the Epies but they had a close call, anyhow. They were outscored 15-6 in the second half, but a 16-1 half-time lead meant the difference. Draper Hall went down to its fourth straight defeat, this time at the hands of Farkas "B" by a 45-16 count. Almy was high scorer for the second straight week. This time he outran his opponents for eleven field goals and two foul shots.

Pharmacy School Favored

The big game in League D between the pillrollers of the Pharmacy School and the Clowns was postponed till after the holidays. The Clowns can tie it all up with a victory. The Pharmacy School, however, because of its 3 and 0 record, and the fact that it scored 65 points in its last game, will be favored. In a thrilling game, which meant nothing as far as first and second place were concerned, the Vikings nosed out the Sigs 25-24. This loss dropped the Sigs into last

Frat Leagues All Tied Up In Close Fight

• CHRISTMAS HOLIDAYS will find the Intramural Cage Loop taking a breather with two squads deadlocked for the lead of each league.

As a result of Sunday's action, PIKA and Sigma Chi dominate Loop A with a 3-0 record, while SAE and Phi Alpha reign supreme in League B with two victories and no defeats.

SAE waited until the last few minutes to run over Phi Sig 25-7. The fraternity champs led at the half 6-2, but turned a fairly close game into a rout by scoring thirteen points in the last five minutes while holding Phi Sig to one. Al Voroby led SAE with nine points, and Joe Inzenna scored four for the losers.

Sigma Chi won over Kappa Alpha in a closely contested game, 19-15. The first half was even and ended with the score at eight all. However, Sigma Chi pulled away in the third quarter, and with three minutes left the score stood at 19-11. Orch Bennington of KA hung two quick long shots before time ran out with Sigma Chi leading 19-15. Bennington led both teams in scoring with 8.

Theta Delta Chi and TKE met in the closest game of the day. Neither team was able to lead by more than two points until the last minute when Donahue and Hurst sank three quick baskets to give Theta Delt the victory 26-18. Donahue of TDX and Naverat of TKE led in scoring with eight points apiece.

Pi Kappa Alpha didn't permit Kappa Sigma to score in the first half and after piling up a 20-0 lead coasted to an easy 41-8 victory. Frank Close scored nearly half of PIKA with twenty points. Kline and Eley of PIKA contributed nine. (See FRAT BALL, Page 7)

Farkas Wins Ruling

• THE INTRAMURAL Council ruled yesterday that the 10 points Jim Hardy accrued in the Swimming Meet, Dec. 10, should be counted toward the Farkas team. Revised results read KA, 23½; Farkas, 23; IKA, 17.

SCHNIP'S CLIPPINGS

By HERB SCHNIP

UNIVERSITY STUDENTS, for some strange reason, have tended to minimize their school's achievements in the field of sports, and to overlook whatever glories have been gathered, in favor of the failures which have been suffered. Since this edition of The University Hatchet is the last in 1948, it might be appropriate to review the performance of George Washington athletics of this rapidly concluding year.

The year 1948 was ushered in during the midst of a highly successful Colonial basketball season, and by the month of March, Coach Zahn's quintet had copped second place in the Southern Conference, an over all record of 19 wins and 6 losses, and a Conference record of 14 wins and only 3 set backs. Coach Zahn, who has never had a losing Colonial hoop squad since his arrival at this university in 1942, had a lot to be proud of, as had every George Washington student.

The baseball season rolled around in the spring, and things looked kind of dark for the same Mr. Zahn, who was entrusted with coaching a diamond team which had won only four games the previous season. However, a brilliant Buff team was formed which won 13 games while dropping just 4 decisions; three of them by one run margins. Michigan, Harvard, Virginia, and Georgetown were among the "name" schools which succumbed to the powerful Colonial sluggers. While many of us were away in June, the baseball team competed in the NCAA District "Three" Tournament in Charlotte, N. C., knocking off Alabama and Georgia Tech before losing to North Carolina in the finals.

Meanwhile, the Colonial sailing team was piling up honors for the University, seldom failing to finish first or second in meets with such opponents as Princeton, Navy, Penn, Massachusetts Institute of Technology and other prominent schools.

Other minor sports were also doing well. Last spring, Tom Moncure of the Rifle Team achieved nation-wide acclaim as he became the National Intercollegiate Rifle Champion, setting a new record in the national individual scores on March 20. Bill Havens, another Colonial, distinguished himself in individual rowing at the Olympic games in England this past summer.

Perhaps it was the outlook this fall in regards to football that gave G.W. students that inferiority complex in intercollegiate sports which never seems to wear off. But the job that "Bo" Rowland accomplished in winning four games (when expected to win just one), in beating Virginia and Georgetown, surely should have revived some confidence in the abilities of G. W. athletic representatives.

And there were names to remember—Andy Davis and his innumerable national honors in football; Bill Cantwell's appointment to the Basketball First Team of the Conference, and former G. W. athletes Phil King, Carl Butkas and Matt Zunic entering pro ranks in baseball, football, and basketball, respectively.

In view of the facts and the evidence, this inferiority complex which too many G. W. Boosters harbor hardly seems justified. It has been a good year in Colonial sports; let's be proud of it. And we have every reason to believe '49 will be an even better one.

taking VMI 71-45. With Phil McNiff showing the way, the Buffmen took an early margin and held it all the way.

The Colonials drove the Keydets off balance in no time as Bill Cantwell set up many of the scoring plays and Ace Adler took the ball off the backboard effectively. McNiff led the scorers with a volley of 17 points during the evening. These games gave the Colonials a 4-2 season record and a 3-2 Southern Conference slate.

INTRAMURAL activities were following a busy schedule last week and will continue with golf, bowling, and table tennis being featured.

After Kappa Sigma fraternity grabbed the golf team crown, Paul Roeller of Kappa Sigma defeated Glen Dietz of the same fraternity for the individual championship.

The bowling competition is set to roll with two nights already scheduled. The YMCA will be the scene of action on Thursday, January 6, from 2 until 5 and also on Saturday, January 8, from 1 until 3.

The Table Tennis Tournament moves into round two on January 8 from 3 until 5 in the afternoon. Ralph Feller emerged the victor in round one with a pair of wins over finalist Don Brumley by 21-16 and 21-15 scores. The semi finals pitted Brumley against Jim Kline and Feller opposite Frank Marcinak. A total of 15 participants made up this initial round. Feller will have to go one better to defeat the other two round champs for the title.
